

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Desert Star is pleased to present their latest laughtastic parody on crime dramas, CSI:PROVO, CHASING CRIME DOWN I-15. This criminally hilarious parody opens August 27th. It's a killer musical melodrama for the whole family!

A fetchin' murder hits Provo! Absent-minded professor and crime investigator Gil Grimace is on the case, but there's a big problem. He's supposed to be getting married. And he's already stood up his fiancée too many times. Now the super-snobby Shelby Snoot is after his girl, and he's winning. Can Gil get it together to stop the killer and finally get married? Find out in this side-splitting parody written by Ben E. Millet and directed by Scott Holman. Colorful characters include Darlene Small, Gil's quirky crime lab assistant, a middle-aged mom who brings her kids on the job and Coach Lavell Edwards. What would Provo be without the Coach? Come get some much needed laughs in this CSI parody poking fun at crime dramas and Provo.

"CSI:Provo" runs August 27 through November 7, 2020. The evening also includes one of Desert Star's comical musical olios, following the show. The "Country Mix & Mash Olio" features a mix of hit songs country and rock classics, mixed with Desert Star's signature comedy.

Food for this show will be served in separate restaurant-style dining in our dinner theatre and banquet hall that allows for social distancing. Menu items include our delicious pizza, desserts, drinks, and our new authentic Mexican dishes. Food will be served an hour before the performance. Please call for reservations.
